BONN WEEK 2017

CELEBRATING 70 YEARS OF FRIENDSHIP

INTRODUCTION

In 1947, Oxford formed one of the first four Anglo-German twinning links with Bonn.

This year marks the 70th anniversary of the Oxford-Bonn twinning link, and will see more than 250 visitors from Bonn coming to Oxford for the weekend to sing, dance, discuss, explore and celebrate our links.

We hope you'll join us and our visitors in discovering another culture and celebrating our friendship. Explore our programme of activities including music, art, dance, history, economics and more - join the festivities!

Oxford Bonn Economic Forum

Friday 26, 8 – 10 am Oxford Town Hall

An open panel discussion, exploring opportunities for collaboration on economic development matters including trade, science, technology, and tourism. Our panel speakers include the Mayor of Bonn Helmut Kollig, Frank Nigriello, Director of Corporate Affairs at Unipart Group, John Hoy, Director of Experience Oxfordshire, and Nigel Tipple CEO of Oxfordshire Local Enterprise Partnership

Ecumenical Bilingual Church Service

*Saturday 27, 10 – 11 am
Wesley Memorial Church*

A traditional element of the Bonn Week celebrations, this church service will be led by the City Rector, conducted in English and German, and will include performances from visiting German choirs.

Beethoven Symphony No. 9

Friday 26, 7.30 pm, Oxford Town Hall

A very special performance of Beethoven's 9th Symphony! More than 100 visiting singers from Bonn will be joined by singers from all over Oxford in this come-and-sing event with young soloists Will Dawes, Louise Wayman, Charlotte Tetley and Wagner Moreira. The singers will be accompanied by the Oxford Studio Orchestra who are celebrating their 50th anniversary, under the baton of Christopher Fletcher-Campbell.

Bürgerfest

Saturday 27, 12 – 4 pm Broad Street

A traditional German street festival! Groups from Oxford and Bonn will be gathering on Broad Street to perform and celebrate. Be entertained by music and dance, from hip-hop to traditional German dance, get involved with German language tasters and a look inside an internationally-staffed fire engine, and enjoy German beer and street food for all tastes.

Museum of Oxford Family Fun Day

Saturday 27, 12 – 4 pm Broad Street

The Museum of Oxford will be bringing some family fun to our Broad Street celebrations. Find out about the history of Oxford's link with Bonn, discover the stories behind the coat of arms of both cities and design & make your own twinning badge.

Bonn at the Bodleian

Saturday 27, 12 – 4 pm

Blackwell Hall, Weston Library

Come and see a special display of the Bodleian's Beethoven collection, including original scores, sketches and autographed manuscripts while players from the Oxford Philharmonic will be bringing Beethoven to life. Cassandra Wye will be telling German tales for all ages, and the Bodleian's replica printing press will be up and running – come and print your own postcard from Bonn Week!

Oxford Philharmonic Concert

Presented by: John Suchet

Saturday 27, 7.30 pm
Sheldonian Theatre

Marios Papadopoulos and the Oxford Philharmonic Orchestra honour Bonn's most famous son in a programme dedicated to two towering masterpieces, Beethoven's 'Emperor' concerto and Symphony No.5. Classic FM presenter, broadcaster and celebrated author, John Suchet, returns to the Oxford Philharmonic Orchestra to share his passion for Beethoven and sign copies of his acclaimed books during the interval of the concert.
